

Scan launches new IT security services S3

Wednesday, 27 January 2010 23:11

KUALA LUMPUR: IT security services provider SCAN ASSOCIATES BHD has launched its latest security product named S3, which stands for "shared security services".

In a statement today, SCAN CEO and founder Prof Datuk Dr Norbik Bashah Idris said S3 aggregated and integrated all existing security services into a single platform so that security management was made easier and cheaper in the long run.

"In non-technical terms, it is like having a capable and experienced security manager who manages the various aspects of IT security for an enterprise," she said.

The launch ceremony here today was graced by Deputy Finance Minister Datuk Kong Cho Ha.

SCAN said S3 had been in the main for two years and was the culmination of its experience in providing security products and services for online transactions.

The product was to be initially sold in Malaysia to government agencies and corporate bodies which provide online services to their stakeholders and clients, involving all e-government applications, as well as online banking and financial services providers.

After Malaysia, SCAN plans to continue to push S3 to countries which it is already operating in, namely Indonesia, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates.
